Dear Kassandra:

Please find enclosed information about the FACE Your Career Conference, a full-day collaborative learning opportunity taking place on September 28 at Harbour Centre in Vancouver.

We love everything the BCFED does, particularly your support of women, the LGBTQ2S+ community, migrant women and indigenous folks. Our conference will further support your work in these areas, teaching leadership skills and increasing dialogue around inclusivity, accessibility and diversity. To show our appreciation for everything you do, we want to extend a discount to both BCFED staff and members.

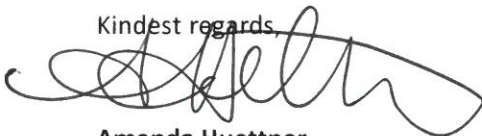

By entering promo code BCFED, you will receive 25% off our non-profit rate (reg. $149).

The event welcomes a diverse group of facilitators, presenting on topics ranging from leadership skills development to anti-oppression, allyship and accessibility. Our audience is just as diverse, welcoming women (including transgender and non-binary folks) from across industries including the medical sciences, law, tech, engineering, the arts, corporate and not-for-profit sectors.

We are very proud that every ticket purchased, even discounted tickets, will help us subsidize event fees for women who otherwise could not afford to attend. Our goal is to welcome everyone who would like to attend.

I hope to see you at our event. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me directly at 778.837.8286.

Kindest regards,

Amanda Huettner
